Traditional methods of locating talent with want ads and job boards aren't enough for high-level positions. You need The Plus Group's experienced, networked professionals with access to gainfully employed candidates only willing to review our select opportunities.

We put you in touch with that rich set of coveted professionals—those not actively seeking opportunities, but fully engaged in their profession. The ones you really want to attract.

Securing Premium Candidates

To be sure the candidates identified are the best suited for your positions, The Plus Group takes each professional through a rigorous screening process beginning with behavioral-based interviewing.

Our strict candidate assessment is then combined with your screening requirements to create a completely customized program. Many clients also use our unique Working Interview to get a realistic snapshot of the candidate's abilities. All this to ensure only the best professionals go to work for you.

The Plus Group is dedicated to helping you meet your goals and achieve success. We are here to meet the challenges that staffing can pose for your business—while we exceed your expectations.
